

Feeling like you're the only one who cares about doing business with ethics and a positive attitude these days?

Disillusioned about where you fit in the business world?

Tired of 'swimming with the sharks'?

Keen to find a way to promote yourself as someone with integrity and to find suppliers/clients who also value high standards of ethics and positivity?

Introducing...

high ideals

High Ideals is a member-based association with a difference!

Membership is based on one's demonstrable commitment to conducting business with the impeccable standards of integrity and positivity, and aiming to have a positive impact on clients, suppliers and colleagues. This brand new organisation is poised to launch in March 2009 and has the mission of connecting and promoting those who raise the bar in business practice. If you are seeking to become connected with business people in a range of different professions and industries, all who share a commitment to positivity, integrity and having a positive impact on those they connect with in the business world, you're the sort of person we wish to invite to apply for membership!
